SCHOOL ROLL NOW 7,424

Contractors' Pay to Be Held
Up Till Work Is Speeded

Instructions to City Solicitor
Paul Landis to proceed with condemnation proceedings against properties owned by F. M. Lochhead and Mary Stolzenbach, were reiterated by the board of education at Tuesday night's session.

Landis will be ordered Wednesday to file land appropriation suits at once. The actions will be instituted in probate court.

Members of the board decided to press the action, after F. M.
Lochhead, 203 E. Vine-st, had appeared before the board and submitted what he said he thought was a reasonable price on three lots and two houses at St. Johns-av and E. Vine-st.

He demanded $14,000 for the tract, 61x145, but mentioned $12, 000 when he saw the board was not interested at the higher figure.

Under questioning by Ralph W.
Austin, Lochhead admitted that he had priced the property at $7,500 to a real estate dealer about 19 months ago.

The board at that time, Austin recalled, offered Lochhead $7, 600, but when he found the property was wanted for school purposes, Austin said, the price shot up to $9,000.

Price now demanded by Lochhead, board members assert, is more than that demanded in W.
Market-st for lots 55x220, with modern homes.

Lochhead filed a statement showing that he receives $1200 income annually from the property, beside living in the larger house.

Taxes on the property for the past year were $85. The amount of taxes paid shows the property is assessed at less than $3,000.

Bids will be taken by the board Sept. 22 for construction of walks at South High school.
Extra drinking fountains were ordered in at Lincoln school.

MONEY HELD UP
No more money will be allowed on estimates by the board to contractors engaged in erection of new school houses until they show some speed in pushing the work along to completion. Several buildings should have been ready Sept. 1.

Contractors who were present protested that it was hard to get plasterers, painters and other needed workers, and that shipments of hardware and lumber were slow.

The building committee was instructed to get prices from electrical contractors on the cost of installing a transformer vault in the basement of Central High school.

Enrollment of the schools to date, Superintendent Offenbauer reported, is 7,424, an increase of 225 over the number at the close of school in June. Students are still coming in.

By transfers from building to building it will be possible to avoid congestion, the superintendent said.

Adoption of text books on wood working and metal work was recommended.

Mrs. Helen Hecker was elected to succeed Miss Helen Vorman, resigned, at South High. It will be necessary to teach the fifth and sixth grades in the Roosevelt school, Offenbauer said.

Lists of delinquents will be ready for the trustee officer next Monday, he declared.

YOUTH SAVES BOY SLAYERS

COMPLETE TEXT OF JUDGE CAVERLY'S DECISION

CHICAGO — (By United Press) — The full text of the decision sending Nathan Leopold Jr. and Richard Loeb to the penitentiary for life, as handed down by Judge John R. Caverly, follows:

In view of the profound an unusual interest that this case has aroused, not only in this community, but in the entire country and, even beyond, its boundaries, the court feels it its duty to state the reasons which have led him to the determination he has reached.

It is not an uncommon thing that pleas of guilty are entered in criminal cases, but almost with exception in the past, such pleas have been the result of virtual agreement between the defendant and the state's attorney whereby, in consideration of the plea, the state's attorney consents to recommend to the court a sentence deemed appropriate by him and in the absence of special reasons to the contrary, it is the practice of the court to follow such recommendations.

In the present case the situation is a different one. A plea of guilty has been entered by the defense without a previous understanding with the prosecution and without any knowledge whatever on its part. Moreover, the plea of guilty did not in this particular case, as it usually does, render the task substituting admission of guilt for a possible difficult and uncertain chain of proof.
Here the state was in possession, not only of the essential, substantiating facts, but also of voluntary confessions on the part of the defendants.
The plea of guilty, therefore, does not make a special case in favor of the defendants.

Since both of the cases;
that, namely, of murder and that of kidnapping for ransom, were of a character which involved the court with discretion as to the extent of the punishment, it became his duty to examine witnesses as to the aggravation and mitigation of the offense.
This duty has been fully met.
By consent of counsel for the state and for the defense, the testimony in the murder case has been accepted as equally applicable to the case of kidnaping for ransom. In addition, a prima facie case was made out of the kidnapping case as well.

The testimony introduced by both the prosecution and the defense, has been so detailed and elaborate as though the case had been tried before a jury. It has been given the widest publicity and the public is so fully familiar with all its phases, that it would serve no useful purpose to re-state or analyze the evidence.

By pleading guilty, the defendants have admitted legal responsibility for their acts;
the testimony has satisfied the court that the case is not one in which it would have been possible to set up successfully the defense of insanity as insanity is defined and understood by the established law of this state for the purpose of the administration of criminal justice.

The court, however, feels impelled to dwell briefly on the mass of data produced as to the physical, mental and moral condition of the two defendants.

They have been shown in essential respects to be abnormal; had they been normal they would not have committed the crime. It is beyond the province of this court, as it is beyond the capacity of human science in its present state of development, to predicate ultimate responsibility for human acts.

At the same time, the court is willing to recognize that the careful analysis made of the life history of the defendants and of their present mental, emotional and ethical condition, has been of extreme interest and is a valuable contribution to criminology. And yet the court feels strongly that similar analysis made of other persons accused of crime, would probably reveal similar or different abnormalities.

The value of such tests seems to lie in their application to crime and criminals in general. Since they concern the broad questions of human responsibility and legal punishment, and in no

PRETTY CLOTHES FOR PRETTY OHIO PRINCESS

Clothes, beautiful clothes, they will be one of the big features of the trip to Tulsa, Okla., some Ohio girls will take next month to represent the state of Ohio at the International Petroleum Exposition.

The Lima News, which is conducting a contest in which a girl will be chosen, has given some idea of the royal gown the Ohio Princess will wear when she competes in the great pageant at Tulsa with girls from other states for the honor of being crowned Queen Petrolia.

Now we can say something about other clothes that will help make her trip enjoyable and lend charm to her natural beauty—for she must be beautiful to win.
The Deisel Co., one of Lima's leading mercantile establishments, will furnish the clothes she will have in addition to those of her own she will naturally want to take.

Arrangements have been made with the Deisel Co. for evening gowns, dinner gowns, sport gowns, shoes, hosiery, lingerie and other items of wardrobe that will be an important part of the trip.

The Lima News and the Deisel Co. will want the young woman to appear at her best when she competes with beauties from the various oil producing states at the great exposition where 200,000 persons are expected to be in attendance.

It is important that she be properly outfitted for the various social functions that will be held for her and the other girls for her stay in Tulsa will be one gay whirl from the time she arrives until she returns. It will be two weeks filled with entertainment. And best of all, it will not cost the young woman a penny.

All of her expenses will be paid and she will be the guest of the city of Tulsa while there.
Every girl in Ohio between the ages of 15 and 25 is eligible. All that's necessary is to send in a photograph. The contest closes Sept. 18, so it is essential that all those who wish to enter send in their pictures without delay.

JEWELS WORTH $250,000 TAKEN

Members of Prince of Wales
Party Robbed

NEW YORK — (By Associated Press) — Jewelry valued at $250, 000 was stolen from the home of J. S. Cadden, wealthy oil man and race horse owner, at Sands Point, Long Island, on Monday night, it was announced today by Gerard Luisi, head of the investigating company which is in charge of the search for the robbers.

Some of the gems belonged to Lord and Lady Mountbatten, who accompanied the Prince of Wales to this country and who were guests at the Cadden home.

Mrs. Richard Norton, another member of the prince's party, also lost some jewels.

The robbery was committed by a sneak thief who entered the room of Mrs. Cadden, Lady Mountbatten and Mrs. Norton while they were away Monday night. Most of the jewels had been left on bureau and dressing tables by the three women. Mrs. Cadden's loss was placed at approximately $80,000.
Lord Mountbatten is a cousin of the Prince of Wales.

MORTON TO TAKE B. OF C. JOB

Formal Acceptance Is Received
By Local Officers

J. E. "Jim" Morton will assume the duties of manager of the Lima Board of Commerce as soon as possible after Oct. 1, he informed George Eckert, chairman of the board of governors, in a letter made public Wednesday.

Morton is now engaged in clearing up a number of details connected with a meeting of commercial secretaries to be held early in October at Columbus but he expects to be here on the job
the first of next month.

He expressed himself satisfied that conditions would be favorable for the continuation of the work of the board here and expressed the hope that there would be a greater feeling of cooperation than ever before.

Arrangements are now being made by the board of governors of the organization to carry on the work until Morton's arrival.
It is probable that Eckert will handle all matters that cannot be carried over until after Oct. 1.

Penalties Are Imposed For Both Killing And Kidnap-ing The Chicago Millionaire's Son—Slayers Saved From Noose Only By Youth.

Climax Reached In Most Unusual Tragedy In History.
When Judge Hands Down Decision Under Heavy Guard—Jurist's Life Threatened.

CHICAGO — (By Associated Press) — In the midst of conflicting reports, Sheriff Hoffman definitely announced that Leopold and Loeb would be taken to Joliet penitentiary Wednesday.

Sheriff Hoffman said that within a few hours after the sentencing he had received several anonymous telephone warnings that preparations were being made to waylay the prisoners and their escort enroute to the penitentiary.

CRIMINAL COURT BUILDING, CHICAGO — (By Associated Press) — Sentence of life imprisonment for the murder of fourteen year old Robert Franks, and of ninety-nine years imprisonment for kidnapping the boy, were meted out today to Nathan F. Leopold Jr., and Richard Loeb by Judge John R. Caverly. The youth of the defendants, 18 and 19 years, was all that saved them from the noose.

AGE OF DEFENDANTS
"It would have been the path of least resistance to impose the extreme penalty of the law," said the gray-haired judge in his decision. "In choosing imprisonment instead of death the court is moved chiefly by the age of the defendants, boys of 18 and 19 years."

The records of Illinois show only two cases of minors who were put to death by legal process, to which number the court does not feel inclined to make an addition.
Judge Caverly added that while imprisonment "may not strike the public imagination as forcibly as would hanging," yet
"to the offenders, particularly of the type they are, the prolonged suffering of years of confinement may be a more effective form of retribution and expiation."

He pointed out that under the state law it is within the discretion of the department of public welfare never to admit these defendants to parole and that "if this course is persevered in, the punishment will satisfy the ends of justice and safeguard the interests of society."

Robert E. Crowe, state's attorney, in a formal statement issued immediately after the session, said:

"I still believe that the death penalty is the only penalty feared by murderers."
He said the responsibility for the decision rests with the court alone and that he had no desire to criticize it, but that he would continue to do "everything within my power to enforce the law honestly and vigorously without regard to the status of the criminal."

FATHER TALKS
After sentence had been pronounced, Nathan Leopold Sr., father of one of the defendants, who sat with head bowed while the jurist read his opinion, said that he would never attempt to obtain the release of his son from the penitentiary. When asked if that was his attitude, he replied emphatically "surely, surely."

"It was all we could have asked for," said Clarence S. Darrow, chief of defense counsel,
"there will be no appeal."

"I do not regard it as a victory except a victory for justice," said Benjamin Bachrach of defense counsel as he shook off those who offered congratulations on the youths' escape from the noose. "Do not congratulate me personally."

Nathan F. Leopold Sr., sat resolutely weeping. He offered no comment and merely nodded his head when friends grouped about him and whispered in his ear.
Foreman Leopold, Nathan's older brother, relaxed visibly as the judge reached the words in his statement which mean life for the youths. He had sat with tens-ed face as the judge read from his manuscript.

He refused to comment and merely smiled as friends crowded about him.

ARRIVAL AT COURT
Judge Caverly, piloted by a large force of motor policemen and guarded on all sides by mounted officers, reached the criminal courts building about twenty minutes of nine and in a few minutes had made his way to the court room to impose the penalty upon Nathan F. Leopold Jr., and Richard Loeb for slay-ing Robert Franks.

No untoward incident was reported on the judge's trip down town from his residence. A battery of cameras furnished the only noteworthy reception to the judge as he alighted from the car, in which a squad of secret service men were riding.

In contrast to the great difficulty and confusion attending Judge Caverly's attempt to gain his chamber on two occasions during the progress of the hearing, his entry this morning was not halted in a single instance.
He was "expressed" to his chamber.

Judge Caverly immediately summoned his chief bailiff and ordered him to maintain quiet, dignity and order in the court room in the time intervening between the hour before calling court to order. He then gave himself to chatting and conferring with his other officers and a few friends.
No one was permitted beyond the gate which led to his private chamber.

KILLING CASTS SHADOW
Murder of Bayen Stoloff Is Still Reflected OWNER SUED FOR DIVORCE
Wife Says Husband Beat And Threatened Her

Has the shadow of the Camorra, which snuffed out the life of Bayen Stoloff two years ago, cast a blight of ill luck on descendants of Alex George, Bulgarian grocer, formerly of 402 N. Pine-st.?

Certainly a train of bad luck has pursued persons who have had anything to do with the little grocer.

Alex George, fearing for his life and believing that police were powerless to protect him from the sword fate for which he had been marked, sold his business at a sacrifice. Taking his little family he fled the city for parts unknown.

The place changed hands several times and then came into the possession of George and Mary "Ma" Butt.

Nothing but ill fortune attended their ownership, it is said, and today Mrs. Butt filed an action for divorce from her mate.

HARGES MADE

She charges that he has beaten and abused her, and threatened to kill her with a butcher knife and shoot her with a pistol.

But that is not all. A few weeks ago someone telephoned the sheriff's office that liquor was being sold in the store. Deputy Al went to the grocery and a bottle concealed among the goods. There is reason to believe that it might have been used there in some mysterious shenanigan.

Nevertheless Butt, to settle a matter, paid a $100 fine.

The couple were married in 1919 at Milan, N. Y. There is a child, Maxine Rose, 4, adored by both parents. There never was any trouble between the couple, it is said, until they acquired the grocery. Then misfortune took their trail.

The two commenced quarreling and Butt became so strange and unreasonable that his wife, fearing for her life and that of her child, resorted to the courts to settle matters.

At her request, the court issued a restraining order preventing Butt from selling an automobile, furniture, or the grocery, which is owned jointly.

HARDY PEAR IS SOUGHT
Agricultural Explorer on Tour Into Russian Territory

BROOKINGS, S. D. — (By Associated Press) — N. E. Hansen, Utah Dakota's "agricultural explorer," whose trips to Asiatic countries in quest of fruits and plants adapted to the climate of northwest have paid dividends inestimable extent to farmers of the Dakotas, is embarking upon a sixth trip to the Siberian wastes, this time in quest of a hardy enough to withstand extremes of South Dakota climate.

Dr. Hansen is on his way westward to embark for Vladivostok, armed by a $20,000 appropriation of the South Dakota legislature.

Already the contributor of the black alfalfa and of the hardy plum, which has been developed to mature in Dakota's short summers, Dr. Hansen stated that the cold fastnesses of northern Siberia hold various fruits and agricultural crops which may be adapted to the climate. His five previous trips of exploration have resulted in the introduction to the United States of the Turkistan, Siamese and other alfalfa breeds, a lot of hybridizations of orchard fruits, and several varieties of roses. And when he returned from Siberia in 1913 he brought a product outside his specialty, a Siberian "fat-tailed" sheep, which has shown capacity of surviving the rigors of South Dakota winters.

Black alfalfa, which is regarded as Dr. Hansen's masterpiece, was developed from a spoonful of seed in 1906 to more than a bushel of seed in 1916. Its culture is spreading as rapidly as seed is available.

Dr. Hansen is certain his present quest for a hardy pear, adapted to Dakota climate, will be successful. "I know it is there," he said, "it is only a question of time and of developing them to resist blight. South Dakota has failed to raise pears hitherto because of this blight. It is the trees."

RAILWAY SCORED FOR DELAY

Metcalfe-st Viaduct Blame Is Placed By Officials

Responsibility for the delay in paving Metcalfe-st and the opening of Metcalfe-st viaduct over the L. E. & W. tracks, giving a direct route of travel south thru the city to the Dixie highway, has been placed on Lima City Street Railway Co.

City officials declare that the railway company is holding up the award of the contract for the paving of the street by not meeting with county requests, while other utilities, including the Solar Refinery Co. and the Ohio Steel, have carried out their agreement.

City Manager C. A. Bingham is negotiating with officials of the street railway company to expedite the improvement so that work can be finished this year as was planned at the get-together meeting over a month ago in the city manager's office when the cooperation of all interests concerned was promised the city and county in rushing thru the improvement.

City Commissioner Ellis Jones is affixing the blame on the Lima City Street Railway Co. for the delay claims that the viaduct was to have been opened on May 1, and if some pressure is not exerted the project will not be completed this season.

Manager Bingham also plans to have the street railway company establish a grade with the city's street grade on Cole-st, claiming that in completion of improvements on that street by the utilities the pavement between the tracks is from two to four inches higher than the city grade.

After this date I will not be responsible for any debts contracted by anyone other than myself.

Wayfield.

FOREIGNERS IN CHINA GUARDED

2,000 International Troops Posted in Shanghai

FIERCE BATTLE RESUMED

Fighting Temporarily Stopped by Rain Storm

SHANGHAI — (By United Press) — Two thousand international troops stood guard today along the boundary of the foreign settlement while the forces of the rival Chinese war lords resumed fighting after being halted by a rain storm.

Despite the nearness of the fighting, the Americans and other foreigners in Shanghai are confident that General Chiang Kai-shek will not permit their quarters to be attacked even if he captures the city. No one is greatly worried, except over the possibility of defeated troops of General Lu's army pouring pell-mell into the settlement in case of a riot.

The marines have taken every possible precaution at the barricades and strengthened the boundaries defenses at weak points.

NEW ADVANCES

SHANGHAI — (By Associated Press) — Cessation of the deluge which limited fighting along the front south and west of Shanghai was the signal for resumption of fighting along the whole line this morning between the forces of rival military governors battling for possession of Shanghai.

Reports from the Lungwha headquarters of the defending forces this morning said that additional advances were made against the invading forces in the Hsing sector. The Chekiang troops reported the capture of the village of Susan in their drive to take Hsing.

The drive on Hsing is part of the campaign to take Chang Chow, the point from which the defending forces from a year ago the Shanghai-Nanking railway.

General Chang Tso Lin, Manchurian war lord, who has been mobilizing his forces since Sunday, intends to open an attack on Shanghai tomorrow against the Wu Pei Fu Peking forces thus creating a new battle line between Peking and Mukden, principal city of Manchuria, according to a report received at Lungwha today from a reliable source.

FUNDS REFUSED

PEKING — General Wu Pei Fu has opened a new offensive against General Li Yung Hsiang, the governor of Chekiang who is busy engaged holding back the army of Kiangsu which has been attacking his troops west of Shanghai.

According to advices reaching Peking, General Sun Chuan Fang who has been holding Fochow in Fukien province for Wu, has arrived at Chekiang in the south of Chekiang with a strong force of Peking troops. His opponent, General Pang with a division of the Chekiang army is without much hope of receiving reinforcements.

The proposed expedition of Dr. Sun Yat Sen, head of the south China government, in support of Chekiang is reported to have been delayed for financial reasons. The Chinese merchants have refused to contribute necessary funds in spite of the inducement that by the support of the expedition they would rid themselves of the presence of Sun's mercenaries. The troops themselves are also alleged to be disinclined toward the expedition.

The Sad Days

The melancholy days are at hand—for the taxpayer. But his burden is only slightly greater than is that of officials who take what they are given of the tax money and try to make ends meet.

The county budget commission is getting under way. Taxpayers will hold their breath until the verdict is announced. Certain is, the amount will be sufficient to cause groans aplenty.

With assessments for sewers, special levies, general taxation and what not with a revaluation on property, taxes will not be a less load than they have been.

While the budget commission has yet to fix the rate of taxation, there undoubtedly will be a long series of controversies when the rate is fixed on the new valuation. Unless there is a lowering, as the public was given to understand there would be, there is bound to be protests from property owners.

The city has made its request for funds. The county has worked out its budget and the schools will have a big claim on tax monies. There will not be enough to go around. There will be sipping and paring here and there and we can see nothing but hard times ahead for the city again next year.

After sinking fund and interest charges are taken out of the amount the city will receive, unless everyone is agreeably surprised, there will be an imposing shortage. Then will come the retrenchment.

We hope certain things that have been done heretofore will never be resorted to again. This city is still receiving unfavorable publicity because it turned out the lights nearly two years ago. This fact is made the basis of a large advertisement appearing this month in one of the popular magazines with millions of circulation. No citizen wants his city pointed out in this manner.

We are making wonderful progress in Lima. If we can get by on the income from taxation until better days—until the results of a more modern system of government begin to be felt—we will be able to have a few luxuries we cannot afford now.

Your Faith

This controversy between religion and science, about the theory of evolution, simmers down to the problem of how much one is willing to accept "on faith."

The scientists claim that religion is based on faith rather than proved fact.

But does it ever occur to these scientists that at least 95 per cent of their scientific knowledge is also based on faith?

For instance, every scientist will take oath that the skull of a creature known as the Java Ape Man, supposed to be half a million or so years old, exists—having been reconstructed from fragments. But how many scientists have actually seen this skull? Belief in this skull is entirely a matter of faith—credulously accepting the word of others.

We're all like the scientists, in that 95 per cent of what we "know" is accepted on faith alone. How do you know that there's a country called China? Were you ever there to see with your own eyes? Most of us have never seen China, but we believe in it.

Faith in the word of others makes us believe nearly everything we class as knowledge. Studying chemistry, we are told that water is a combination of hydrogen and oxygen—and we accept this as true, on faith.

Scientists "swore by" the authenticity of the Cardiff Giant—believed in it, many of them, because they had faith in it—until the giant was exposed as a "planted" hoax of P. T. Barnum.

The world is so big that a man traveling constantly for 100 years would see only a small fraction of the whole before he died. With this handicap, it's quite natural that nearly all of our knowledge is accepted on the basis of faith.

Faith is one of the mightiest forces in life. It is just as much present in science as in religion.

All theories are eventually proved false—from Columbus knocking out the scientific theory that the earth was flat, to Einstein proving that parallel lines DO meet it indefinitely prolonged. The history of science is a history of exploded convictions—shattered faiths.

The Blush Of 80

They opened the Mark Twain Memorial Park at Florida, Mo., a few days ago, and a very considerable number of old-timers were present who "knew Sam Clemens when," etc. Reminiscence? Of course they did, and had a fine time doing it.

"That Clemens boy" certainly made his mark in the community of that early day, and some of it was dark but most of it was white—all of it was humorous. Anne Levering Bower, aged 83, went to school with Sam and moved in the circle that knew him best and most at the time.

"Sam," said Mrs. Bower, "had one habit the girls used to talk about."

She paused and her eyes drooped in confusion before her auditor, and pink of the natural kind colored her aged cheeks.

Then she brightened bravely and continued: "I guess it's all right, for I'm thinking you are married and will understand." "Sam," she continued still with some confusion and searching for the most chaste manner of expression, "Sam used to have a habit of pulling up his—his—his socks when he was with a girl. He didn't wear any supporters, I guess."

More blushes and a long sigh of relief because she had finally relieved her gentle old chest of the scandalous doings of Sam, who brazenly adjusted his hose in the horrified presence of the young ladies!

This is 1924. We of the time know and have seen legs of all kinds, colors, shapes and lengths, clothed and unclothed. They are on parade anywhere and everywhere. They mean but little in our blasé existence, excite little attention or interest.

But Anne Levering Bower, at 83, can still blush confusedly as she recalls that Sam Clemens, some 70 years ago, pulled up his socks in the presence of a lady!

We have gone far in one direction or another—so far, that our octogenarians seem to be about the only ones among us that have not forgotten how to blush.

Queer

To win bets, there is no limit to man's foolishness. A Dutchman passes thru Paris, traveling 15,000 kilometers by turning somersaults. He started last November and expects to finish the trip early next year.

Why ever consider life dull when there is plenty of World Vaudeville like this? Half the world are squirrels . . .

In St. Louis a drug clerk shot a man, and if the man asked the price of postage stamps we hope the clerk goes free.

ANOTHER CHINESE PUZZLE

LIMA NEWS HEALTH SERVICE

By DR. WILLIAM BRADY

MRS. WEST ON CASTOR OIL

The best all around baby stuff I have seen is that issued in publications of the Labor Department of the United States government at Washington. Queer, in one way, that such a health subject should be a matter for the department of labor—but then, we're a funny nation in our general administration of public health, for you look in vain for a health department in our government at Washington. There isn't so much problem as public health as far as our federal government is concerned. Oh, yes, to be sure, we have all kinds of subsidiary bureaus dabbled with by the, under the guidance of health experts like the secretary of the treasury. This is no joke. To be the secretary of the treasury is quite a health task, for all I know. But an hour out of the bureau under his direction is the so-called Public Health Service of this great government of ours. You see how it is. You know how to feel that my daughter knows enough to take care of her own health or the health of all his neighbors. That accounts for the popularity of potent medicines in America. It explains also why we have no health department in our federal government.

So the secretary of labor, to be outdone by any of the other cabinet members, takes a hand in running the health affairs of the country, and I must say he does it much better at least in the matter of keeping the babies well than I do. This labor department has a children's bureau. That fact, in a parking place for children, but a special headquarters for the compilation and distribution of education literature about the care of children.

I have recommended this pamphlet many times. I am glad to recommend them again, for I believe they are the best kind of instruction in the field of child care.

THE LIE
My uncle is a goodly man, no great sin mars his life. But once when he was very young he lied unto his wife. To save a lengthy argument, "On business, dear," said he, "I shall be kept down town tonight, so do not wait for me." Then he played cards till 10 o'clock and chuckled soft and low. To think he'd got away with it, and Aunt would never know.

My aunt was a trusting soul. She swallowed every word. But when the morn broke bright and clear some startling things she heard. A neighbor's wife dropped in to chat and settling in a chair, said she: "Next Sunday I suppose a bonnet new you'll wear?" Your husband had good luck last night, from what I understand. Jack paid him forty cents to see four acres in his hand."

My aunt could not believe her ears, she blushed a blush of shame. Then later on unto her door another neighbor came. And just to make a little talk, said dear old Mrs. Bragg, "I hear your husband won last night at Billy Benson's stage." All thru the day where'er she went from all she wanted to meet. She got the information of my uncle's first deceit.

My uncle is a goodly man, no great sin mars his life. But once when he was very young he lied unto his wife. And tho' 'twas forty years ago, she looks on him with doubt. And oft reminds him of the time she found his business out. Yes, tho' 'twas forty years ago, still uncle sadly waits. That half the trouble of this world is caused by tattle-tales. (Copyright 1924)

Seal sale for Mitzel in her latest picture "The Magic Ring" will start Thursday at the Lyric theatre. The charming comedienne will be seen before the opening of the seal sale. The picture is a masterpiece of comedy and is one of the best of the season.

Indications are that Mitzel will be seen in the best comedy of the season. It is a fantastic story with a prologue and three acts and was written by Zella and was written by Harold Le. It is so written as to give a legitimate excuse to sing, dance and act with all the fire and spirit of the profession. In it is the most of emotions and a picture of the treasures of the soul.

The story of the play is a dramatic one. It deals with a little girl from the treasures of the soul which is said to possess the power of granting the wishes of those who see it. The story is a masterpiece of comedy and is one of the best of the season.

Henry W. Savage, who has been popular in large part for Mitzel's success because of the outstanding qualities he has provided her with, again given her an equally fitting production. He has proven a hit in New York, San and Philadelphia and is on his way to Chicago where it will open in the Illinois theatre.

Sept. 21. Mitzel will be seen Boyd and Sidney Greenstreet, of whom were with her in "Billy," her previous success.

the Quilna

"Manhandled," now appearing at the Quilna theatre, Gloria Swanson again proves that she does more than just wear the crown. Not only does she play the flashing dramatic part that so surprised and delighted her admirers in her three previous productions, but in "Manhandled" she blossoms out as a comedienne of the first rank.

She is the especially clever bit comedienne of the first rank. Her single imitation she does in picture is the impersonation of a Russian countess. She puts a touch into this scene undoubtedly adds new laurels to her screen interpretation.

The story which was written by Strider, Gloria has the of a shop girl in a New York department store, who climbs the ladder, getting furs, and jewelry, but after reaching dangerous heights finds out that love is best in the end.

Tom Moore heads an all-star picture cast, having the role of John Hagan, garage mechanic and taxi driver by night. The picture was directed by Allan Dwan, who injected some unique touches that will give it and make the most blaze of the season.

"Manhandled" will appear for a number of the week at the theatre, preceded by Quilna News and a Ben Turpin Comedy.

JAPAN'S DEBT

YOKOHAMA, Japan's national debt is 4,458,000,000 yen ($29,000,000), according to a statement by the department of finance. This figure is not a short term interest, such as the temporary bonds and bonds which are included, would be the total to more than 5,000,000,000 yen.

A FAST STEPPER AT 83!

John A. Parker, 83, of Tacoma, Wash., traveled all the way to Chicago in search of the Fountain of Youth. And, judging from this picture, he found it. Now he is proving himself quite a stepper. He is going to learn to trip off all the latest dances. But just to get back into practice, he's rehearsing with Mildred Streiberg, the old "buck and wing," in which he says he was quite proficient half a century ago.

METAL ROOFS IN TOKIO HELD RESPONSIBLE FOR HEAT AND LONG DROUGHT

TOKIO—Three hundred thousand and metal roofs in Tokio, most of them tin and galvanized iron, are adding appreciably to the discomforts of one of the hottest summers in recent years. More than one-half of the city's population lives in buildings erected since the earthquake of last September, and nearly all of these buildings have metal roofs. Temperatures in such houses are from 5 to 10 degrees Fahrenheit higher than in buildings roofed with slate or tile.

Experts say the heat is not the only discomfort engendered by the metal roofs. Tokio and its suburbs are suffering the worst summer drought in 30 years. Districts to the north and southwest get rain, but not the Tokio metropolitan area, and half the wells in the suburbs have dried up.

It is argued that Tokio gets no rain because the metal roofs, reflecting the sun's rays, generate a body of superheated air which rises and carries the rain clouds away.

Bullet Fired By Brother in Play Proves Fatal

Warren Elsass, three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Elsass, of Borkins, died Tuesday afternoon at the City hospital from a gunshot wound in the abdomen accidentally inflicted by his brother.

The child was shot Tuesday morning when a target gun with which the older brother, Howard, aged 6, was playing with, was accidentally discharged. The bullet entered the boy's abdomen and emerged thru the back. He was rushed to the City hospital where an operation was performed in an effort to save his life, but he died four hours later.

LOST LIBRARY BOOKS ON RAILROADS ARE RETURNED UNTIL "JOKER" IS FOUND

PARADENA, Cal.—People who have been using the Pacific Electric Railway as a medium for returning overdue books to the public library, in the future must employ other means of evading the librarian's fines.

For months the lost and found department of the railway has been returning to the library books picked up in street cars and buses. The number gradually grew until one man's time was chiefly occupied in returning books from the car barns. When railway officials noticed that no one forgot to leave any privately owned books on the cars, they came to the conclusion that they were being "worked," and announced that there would be no more books returned to the public library.

NAPOLEON THE GREAT BEATEN BY STOMACH

Napoleon—brilliant, intellectual, conqueror of nations after nations—was a victim of his appetite. He indulged his insatiable appetite for food. He was forever munching candy. He died of intestinal disease which he should have been at the prime of life.

To live long, live well. Obey Nature's laws. Eat not too much nor too fast. Keep your stomach in good condition at all times and the bowels regular. When food does not agree with you and you feel uncomfortable or distressed, take one or two Jaquin capsules for indigestion and get "comfort" within. They will quickly relieve gas, indigestion, biliousness and constipation. Easy to take. Quick in action. Keep them handy—ready to use at first sign of distress at sea. Ask your friend the druggist for advice.

JOHN W. DAVIS SPEAKS AT DENVER TOMORROW

ESTES PARK, Colo.—When John W. Davis, the Democratic presidential nominee, leaves this haven of rest tomorrow, he will face an even more strenuous program of campaigning than he did on the trip out of Chicago which brought him to this, his farthest point west on the tour.

He will deliver three successive addresses in as many nights: the first at Denver Thursday, the second at Cheyenne, Wyo., Friday and the third at Topeka, Kansas Saturday. From Topeka his schedule calls for a trip to Burlington, Mo., for an outdoor speech next Monday and then for an address at Des Moines a week from today before he returns to Chicago to speak there.

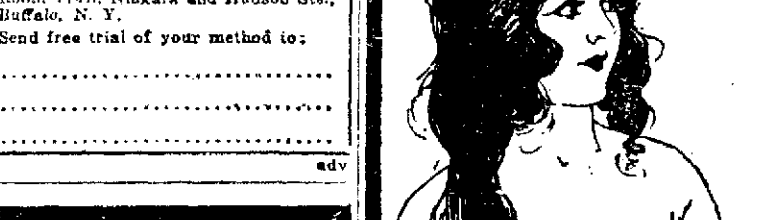

Many rear platform addresses are being arranged for along the route of his travels in Colorado, Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri and Iowa.

TELEPHONES ON INCREASE

New Directory Shows 12,800 Stations Listed

There are now 12,800 telephones in operation in the city, it was announced Wednesday by George McPherson, general manager of the Lima Telephone & Telegraph Co.

His announcement came in connection with the distribution of the new September telephone directory to the homes and business houses in the city.

Members of the mail carriers force at the local postoffice are distributing the new directories in their spare time. The districts are the same as those outlined by the postoffice and in this manner the work is carried out carefully, quickly and with a very little loss of time.

It is estimated by the company that the population of the city proper is now slightly more than 10,000. This does not count that part lying outside the corporation limits. At this rate the density of telephones is very high.

During the war to date 560 new telephones have been installed. This is slightly below the figures for 1923 but is more than twice as many as were installed in either 1921 or 1922.

MOTHER SEEKING TO PROTECT CHILDREN FROM THEIR FATHER

Application for an order restraining C. E. Zimmerman from visiting away his children to parts unknown was filed in common pleas court Wednesday by Mrs. Donna J. Zimmerman, 643 N. Main St.

Mrs. Zimmerman is striving to keep her two little girls Betty, 10, and Catherine, 8, out of her husband's hands. She also is seeking divorce from Zimmerman on grounds of non-support, instead of working, she declares, he loafed about, refusing to find employment.

For a number of years the plaintiff asserts that she has worked in a cigar factory to earn money for herself and little ones. Since their separation, the wife claims, Zimmerman has threatened to take the children away and she fears he will carry his threats into execution unless restrained by the court.

In her divorce petition the wife asks for alimony and the care and custody of the children.

THE NERVOUS WRECK

by E. J. Rath
©1924 - by NEA Service Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Nervous Wreck, an eccentric, is driving Sally from her father's ranch to the city. At the point of a gun the man forces her to go. He takes her to a rooming house and she is held captive at a ranch by one of the men whom she finally escapes. She is then taken to a rooming house and she is held captive at a ranch by one of the men whom she finally escapes. She is then taken to a rooming house and she is held captive at a ranch by one of the men whom she finally escapes.

flared without a warning. "What have I said?" he asked. "I'm not sore. I just think the biggest idiot in the state of Montana—that's all."

puzzled over that, got no out of it, but became audacious. "I can't seem to do things right. Only get you were in a hurry to me, and—What?" he had mumbled something, did not catch it. "I'm not sore. I just think the biggest idiot in the state of Montana—that's all."

stop it!" groaned the wreck. "I didn't mean anything. I'm just a nervous wreck. I'm a near-sighted, goggle-eyed, I'm all nerves. I'm a I've got a rotten temper mean disposition, and I you really believe all that, Williams?"

her would I," said Sally. Wreck stared. He swallowed. His taut nerves, it to him, were vibrating. He the he were roaring far common things of earth. "I really mean—No! Yes! I'm scared—absolutely!"

old timer?" said Morgan. "Honestly, could you want me to make you the silliest looking sheriff in ten counties?"

"I'm a justice of the peace," mused the possessor of the title, as he looked sympathetically at Sally and the Wreck. "I've got a good deal of legal authority. Wouldn't wonder if I could write license in a pinch. Never tried it, but—"

"You'll get yourself into a jam," warned the sheriff. "Oh, I've been in all kinds of jams, Bob. Just got out of one. He eyed the sheriff. Then he turned again to the pair in front of him. "Well, if you young folks want to take a chance, I'm game."

The Wreck squeezed Sally's arm until she winced, but she smiled at him. "I wash my hands of it," said the sheriff. "No, you don't. You'll be a witness," said the Wreck. "And, for the love of Mike, judge, get a move on. I'm so nervous I'm liable to go crazy."

"I know how the language goes, anyhow," he said. "That part of it will be just as regular as it was printed. I've seen a whole lot of licenses, including my own. There ain't anything very complicated. There. Now, just sign where I'm pointing."

that won't worry you." The Wreck roused himself from a daze. "How do we get from here to the Bar-M?" he asked. "Easy," said the judge. "Hand me that license for a minute."

He unfolded it and turned it over. (Continued in our next issue)

THE TANGLE

An Intimate Story of Innermost Emotions Revealed in Private Letters

LETTER FROM LESLIE PRESCOTT TO RUTH BURKE, CONTINUED.

I was unconscious for quite a while, I think, and then without sensing much I must have gone to sleep, for when I awakened I found myself undressed in my own bed, the light of the late morning streaming in, and mother bending over me.

"What has happened?" I said. Then I remembered. "Where are Jack and the baby?" "Jack is here, Leslie," said my husband's voice, and I turned slightly to see him sitting in a chair on the other side of the bed, his face all plastered and bandaged up.

"I came near killing you, didn't I, dear," I felt my voice tremble as I said the words. "Don't worry about me, darling," said Jack, and there was much feeling in his tones. "You are much worse off than I. The doctor says your heart is considerably weakened. He seems to think you have had a great deal of worry and trouble lately."

For a moment Jack was silent, and I heard the footsteps of my mother, who is the most understanding of women, leaving the room. Subconsciously Jack must have realized that we were alone, for he bent over and took me in his arms.

Leslie, my darling, I am sorry. I've been a brute. I'm always doing the wrong thing. It's my cursed selfishness, I think. You are right, dear. You're always right, and I was a beast to make any intimation that you could be otherwise than loyal to me even in thought."

"No," I whispered. "I could not possibly be otherwise than loyal to you, for—for—I pulled his head down to mine and whispered something in his ear."

"My wife, my darling wife! It isn't true—it can't be true!" "Yes, it is true, Jack. Are you glad?"

A sudden shadow passed over his face, but he quickly brought a smile to his lips. "I'm only afraid for you, dear," he said. Then, as tho' it was brought from him against his will, he whispered: "I hope it will be a girl."

As Jack said this, Ruth, all the suppressed fears that had been assailing me since I had known a baby was coming to me, swelled up in front of me. Suppose I had a son. Would it make any difference in my feelings for little Jack, whose childish heart I had found was all bound up in his feelings for his "pitty muver?"

Could I bear to know that my son's name must be something else than the historic one this other child bore? The name of John Alden Prescott had already been given to another woman's child. Would it hurt me if my own flesh and blood could never have it?

Faintly in the distance I heard a cry from little Jack. Uncertain steps came nearer my door. "I want my muver!" I want my muver!" said a tremulous, grieving, childish voice. "He shall have his muver!" I said. "Jack, open the door and let my son in."

Little Chats about the Drug Business

NO. 97 NEXT WEDNESDAY

Two Viewpoints

Whenever you are urged through advertisements to use this or that preparation, you may be sure that the message was prompted more by personal gain of the advertiser than for your particular welfare.

Consider that viewpoint with the one regarding your physician whose success is in direct proportion to the service which he renders to the community.

It is easy to see why you are safer in putting your dependence in him than in a bottle of some preparation of which you know nothing except the claims of the maker.

Whenever you are ill call your physician. Whenever medicine is prescribed bring us his prescription.

GILLETT WINS IN SENATE RACE
Speaker of House Nominated in Massachusetts Primary

BOSTON (AP) Associated Press.—An easy victory for Speaker Frederick H. Gillett, of the national house of representatives, was the outcome of the three cornered contest for the Republican nomination for United States Senator in yesterday's primaries. Returns from 1867 of the 1432 precincts in the state, including Boston complete, gave Gillett 137,022; Louis A. Coolidge 57,103; Congressman Frederick W. Dallinger, 73,930.
Lieutenant Governor Alvan T. Feller was nominated for governor by the Republicans, the same prospect giving him 176,653 to 134,196 for State Treasurer James Jackson.
Congressman Peter F. Taggart, Democrat, was defeated for re-nomination in the tenth district (Boston) by John J. Douglas, the vote of the district complete being Douglas 11,041; Taggart 9,557 with two other candidates trailing far behind.
Senator David I. Walsh was re-nominated by the Democrats with out opposition and Mayor James M. Curley of Boston had no opponent for the Democratic nomination for governor.
Among the Republicans nominated for the state house of representatives was James Lucey of Northampton, the elder in whose shop President Coolidge spent much time when he was living in that city and to whom he once said he owed his rise to the presidency.

It is an aid to digestion, too, so convalescents are given WRIGLEY'S to stimulate stomach action and for its antiseptic effect upon mouth and throat.

JOYS OF MOTHERHOOD

Often Prevented by Female Trouble

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound brings Joy to Homes by Removing Cause of Trouble

Brooklyn, N.Y.—"I was working after I got married and the young lady who worked next to me asked me if I had any intentions of having a child. I told her I would be the happiest woman on earth if I could become a mother, but I always had terrible cramps, backaches and headaches. She then told me of a woman she knew who took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for the same troubles and it helped her greatly. I took about a half bottle and found that the following month I did not suffer any pain, so I kept on taking it. I have a wonderful baby boy six months old and he is as plump and fat as any one could wish a baby to be. I still take the Vegetable Compound regularly because I have looked fine all the time and felt fine and my mother told me that was the reason. I will be glad to have you publish my testimonial with my name and address."—Mrs. EDWARD WERBECK, 1824 Greene Ave., Brooklyn, N.Y.

Free From Old Trouble
Auburn, Me.—"I suffered with inward weakness for ten years and had doctor'd all this long time but never got any help. One day I saw my sister and she told me of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I went and got me a bottle of it. I took two bottles and a half and I was just as free from my old troubles as I could be. I had only one child and I was afraid that I could never have any more, for I had been told that I never could have a living child for I was not strong enough to carry one. But they were mistaken and I had a nice baby boy and now I have five children. I can't praise your medicine enough. My youngest sister has taken it, too, and praises it."—Mrs. G. L. WHEELER, 43 Mechanics Row, Auburn, Maine.

These cases are similar to many others reported to us. It is well for women to carefully consider such statements and to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial. It may bring great joy to your home.

Over 100,000 women have so far replied to our question, "Have you received benefit from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?" 98 per cent of these replies are "Yes."

That means that 98 out of every 100 women who take this medicine for the ailments for which it is recommended are benefited by it.

This goes to prove that a medicine specialized for certain definite ailments—not a cure-all—can and does do good work. For fifty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been a medicine for women. For sale by druggists everywhere.
